

FAXED

At approximately 10:30am Finbarr Dowling (AMWU Organiser) visited the site. With Mick Najesmic (CFMEU shop steward) he proceeded to the site office to ask Andrew Zinni if he could show three representatives from The Age Spencer Street Facility around the site.

At approximately 11:00am these three representatives signed the Visitors' Register at Probuild Constructions' site office. The following names were recorded:

- Peter Weirel 0418 580 512
- Steve Darg?? 0419 949 563
- Peter Abrahamson

It is believed that at least two of these men are a shop steward and an OH&S representative from the Spencer Street facility.

Following a brief site walk they returned to the office to view the architectural drawings. Unable to find their respective area on the drawings, it appeared as if they were looking for a "maintenance" area. Further to this, they asked Andrew Zinni if more showers could be installed. Andrew Zinni responded it would be possible depending on location, however, they should bring up these issues with Fairfax representatives.

A brief conversation ensued and they left site soon after.

Prior to the arrival of the Fairfax personnel, Finbarr Dowling also informed Andrew Zinni (in the presence of Nick Najesmic) that a boilermaker working on the site for CPS (precast contractor) had been stopped from working as he did not have a current EBA. He then proceeded to inform that if CPS are to have a boilermaker working on site they have one of two options, being:

- i. employ a boilermaker full time, or
- ii. hire one on day labour from Alfasi.

Andrew Zinni then asked if this boilermaker were to sign the EBA would he be able to work? To this, Finbarr Dowling stated that there currently is not an EBA available to sign and that one is still being drafted. When asked if there were any other options in getting a boilermaker on site as this task (welding plate connections on precast panels) was currently critical to the project, Finbarr Dowling stated there weren't.
